
do we appeal?

Posted by Mark - 2008/02/22 23:28

one option we have is to appeal the decision .. what are people's views on this?

mark " in consideration" dale

=====

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by bluecolour - 2008/02/23 00:33

I'd say yes,because I want the festival to go ahead but of course its up to you, who will be doing the planning and meetings etc, can the concerns that where an issue be resolved? and like i said in the other thread how much clout did the people against the festival have?, eg are they golfing buddies etc with the council.would a reduction in tickets available be financially viable. Less numbers does equal less likely problems.I am a working mum but I dont live that far away, if i could be any use let me know.

=====

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by Remote Control Rob - 2008/02/23 09:55

really sorry mark. It seems as tho a minority are making life very difficult for you. I will help any way I can if you want to appeal.

=====

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by clare - 2008/02/23 14:42

If you went to appeal would there be any way to, with a little more time sort out any of the issues they have a problems with . Like the road getting clogged and the issues the police have or have you done everything ? Any thing i can do just let me know , good luck with whatever you decide . clare

=====

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by mark1 - 2008/02/23 19:07

Appeal and lets see if we can sort out the problems, look at Leeds festival they try to stop it every year but end up having to give in.

Lets start to lobby all the local council members (in the correct way), and get them onside and supporting what could prove to be a great advert for the dales and the surrounding areas

=====

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by clare - 2008/02/23 19:59

Ok there maybe some people i could talk to they are council members. Mostly on my side ,if it will do any good. Donny whaits is for the festival . Any others there is one more man i can approach in gig . anything i can do .clare

=====

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by Remote Control Rob - 2008/02/25 10:47

Looking at the report it doesn't say that it's against the idea of a festival. It's just saying that more work needs to be done to iron out all the concerns.

"The Committee concluded that it was necessary to reject the application to promote the objectives."

Basically doesn't that mean "we're not gonna give you this liscence untill you provide us with adequate solutions to these problems" ?

Are these problems going to be hard to overcome?

Solving these will take most of the objectors who have real concerns away and you'll just be left with a few NIMBY's and people jumping on the band wagon, which the council should be able to see straight through.

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by bluecolour - 2008/02/26 18:09

any thoughts mark,on what you are planning to do,reading the comments in the craven herald you are gaining masses of support

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by Mark - 2008/02/26 23:03

Hi, I'm waiting to hear back on some legal advice..... watch this space....

mark

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by jacqui - 2008/02/27 07:21

go for it Mark, I have also read the reports in the Herald,;) you can do this.xx

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by Bohills - 2008/02/27 15:05

Go for the appeal! I cant believe the proposals were rejected and the reasons were vague at best. I also can't believe the Rathmell Killjoys got a solicitor. They clearly have far to much money and time. Is there a possibility to relocate to a friendlier neighbourhood as a back up? Skipton has held festivals?

Re:do we appeal?

Posted by jacqui - 2008/02/28 09:06

oh Skipton, many a happy memory of Skipton
:ohmy: :)